

The Department of Religious Studies at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville is pleased to announce the launch of the David L. Dungan Memorial Lecture

THE UNIVERSITY of TENNESSEE UT
KNOXVILLE
COLLEGE of ARTS & SCIENCES
Department of Religious Studies

BART D. EHRMAN

James A. Gray Distinguished Professor
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Renowned New Testament studies scholar and New York Times bestselling author of such books as:

- Jesus, Interrupted: Revealing the Hidden Contradictions in the Bible (And Why We Don't Know About Them)
- Misquoting Jesus: The Story Behind Who Changed the Bible and Why
- Lost Scriptures: Books that Did Not Make It into the New Testament

“DOES THE NEW TESTAMENT CONTAIN FORGERIES?

The Surprising Claims of Modern Scholars”

Thursday, January 27, 2011 at 5 PM

University Center Auditorium, 1502 West Cumberland Avenue, Knoxville, TN
(Parking is available at a minimal charge in the University Center Parking Garage.)

Reception to follow in the UC Crest Room

Ehrman is an expert on the New Testament manuscript tradition, the early Christian apocrypha, the apostolic fathers, and the historical Jesus. He is also a gifted teacher who has made his scholarly expertise readily accessible to the audiences of The Daily Show, The Colbert Report, the History Channel, and NPR's Fresh Air.

Co-sponsors include: Chris and Carrie Hodges, College of Arts and Sciences, Department of Classics, Department of History, Marco Institute for Medieval and Renaissance Studies, and Department of Modern Foreign Languages and Literatures.

For further information contact Karen Windham, Department of Religious Studies: (865) 974-2466 kwindham@utk.edu

The University of Tennessee is an EEO/AA/Title VI/Title IX/Section 504/ADA/ADEA institution in the provision of its education and employment programs and services.